FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 3, 1855.

Democratic State Convention.—It will soon be time to hold a state convention for the purpose of nominating delegates to attend the national convention to be held in Cincinnati in May next. The State Sentinel suggests the 8th January as a suitable day for the purpose. We cordially agree with the suggestion. The eighth is a day fraught with glorious remembrances of victory, and is justly held dear to every Democrat. Our state conventions have generally been held on that day, and we can conceive no better way of commemorating the anniversary of the glorious achievement of Andrew Jackson, the hero, the patriot, the democrat, than by holding our democratic convention. The very day is the eighth of January by all means.

The Next Presidency.

The day matters are apparently shaping render it almost certain that the next presidential campaign will be a sectional struggle, at least so far as the belligerency, as they choose to style themselves, the republicans, are concerned.—Know Nothingism has run its course; it has shown its hideous deformity, and has no more power of mischief. Hence it is ignored. Nothing can be gained by adhering to its detestable and unpopular principles, and they will be consigned to oblivion—or at least an effort will be made to that effect; and nothing could save its last leaders better than such should be the fact. But they will not be allowed to hide their misdeeds so easily. The memory of their anti-slavery efforts will be preserved against them—they will find themselves doomed and despised men; and whatever cause they espouse will be looked upon with distrust, and will assuredly be defeated. The temperance lobby has been roused to activity, the despotic foundation of its advocates havingakened a stern opposition against their encroachments, and it, too, has lost its power, now an element in politics, and is to be thrown overboard. The old whig party is dead, the issue it formerly made have all been disposed of and decided against it. The project is, that all the sectional ends, legs and limbs, of the upper, &c. will unite under the black banners of abolitionism, freedom, and anti-slaveryism, and march to victory the north against the south. The Democracy, as the true national conservative party, will stand by the compromises of the constitution, and the integrity of the Union, and expose the sectional issue.

This, in our opinion, will be the plan of the next campaign. In such a contest, the entire north would, as a matter of course, vote with the democrats. There are 235 electoral votes to give, leaving 145 to elect. Of those the South gives 122, leaving only 23 to go in the north to secure an election. Who will make the first move in this matter?

Lectures.—Hon. Horace Mann will lecture before the Young Men's Association, on Tuesday, Nov. 17, and Wednesday evenings next, at Colerick's Hall. The high reputation of the hon. gentleman as a lecturer, scholar, and philanthropist, and the general satisfaction given by his lectures last season, will insure him large audiences.

Graham's Magazine.—For November, a rich number and contains several very readable articles, a beautiful steel engraving, splendid fashion plate, several patterns of needle-work, embroidery, &c.

We do not design writing a puff—Graham's need no puff—the reputation and popularity of the magazine are sufficiently established—we merely mean to call attention to the fact that a new volume will commence with the January number, and that it will soon be time to renew subscriptions. It is only $3.00 per annum; two copies for 50¢, or five copies for $10. We suppose club of six might easily be raised, and the Magazine presented at $2.00 per copy. These wishes to endear us to the friends of the cause.

Kansas.—Delegates have been elected in Kansas for a Constitutional convention to adopt a state constitution, and apply to Congress for admission as a sovereign state. Gov. Readell it is said will be the bearer of the Constitution and election to Washington. Nearly all the men elected are in favor of making Kansas a free state.

Gas.—We noticed workmen engaged this morning in erecting posts for gas-lights in our streets where they are to be placed, paying for the gas. This we think is an equitable arrangement. Those who have the benefit of the gas will pay for it; while those who live in utter darkness,² it is, beyond the range of its pipe, will not be taxed for the benefit of a favored few. It is also in strict accordance with the venerable and time-honored adage of "those who darse must pay the piper."

Newspaper Gallery.—A testimonial to the Editor of the Kitschbeker Magazine from its Contributors. New York: Samuel Weston, 384 Broadway, Publisher.

This is one of the most splendid works ever issued from the American press. It is got up in a set of benefit and testimonial of esteem for Mr. Gaylord Clark, editor of the Kitschbeker Magazine. The surviving writers for that Magazine have each contributed, originally, a article for this publication, and the trials are to be appropriated to the erection of a suitable residence on the banks of the Hudson for Clark.

No work contains upwards of 60 articles edited by the best writers of the country, and it is accompanied by a well executed portrait of author. It forms, therefore, an admirable gallery of American authors. It is printed in paper of the best quality, and the type, engraving, and binding are all done in the best style of art. The whole forms one of the most attractive works that can be had to grace the centre-table.

A Sick City.—New Orleans is no doubt, the sickliest city in the world. By official reports of its Board of Health, it appears it has had ten epidemics of yellow fever and cholera in eight years, with a mortality of seventy-seven thousand three hundred and thirty-eight during that time, or near half the present population of the city.

A cheap Trip to Europe.

It is not every one who can spare either the time or money necessary to make a trip to Europe; although there are few but would like to do it, if they could. A favorable chance is now offered, which all may avail themselves of, as it will only occupy two or three hours' time, and an outlay of 25 cents! "Bayard's great panorama of a Voyage to Europe is now on exhibition at Colerick's Hall. Take a seat there, and you will be conveyed across the Atlantic to Liverpool, visit London, and see all its wonders; take a trip up the Rhine, and be home again in time to sleep in your own bed."

The price is enormous in its praise of this panorama, describing it as one of the best finished and finest paintings ever exhibited in this country, and the various scenes are so naturally and vividly delineated, that it seems difficult to realize that you are not actually making the trip represented.

The Boston Post thus speaks of the panorama:

Bayard's Great Panorama.—This series of beautiful views is proving very attractive. The Party at Home may now visit the commercial and historic wonders of Europe, with no risk, little cost, and considerable of interest. After viewing the Cities of Boston and Charlestown, the traveller is supposed to start in the steamer Britannia. He then sees Halifax, and after encountering the perils of ledges and thunder-storms, passes Cape Clear Lighthouses, and soon sails up the peaceful Mersey. He then leaves for the Thames, and is entertained with a most elaborate panoramic view of London from water. Afterwards his journeys up and down the beautiful Rhine, and with its attendant villages, mountains and towns. The last portions of the exhibition are the departure from Boston, the passage along the Thomas and under the numerous bridges of London, and the views on the Rhine. All of these are very natural, sufficiently well executed, and unquestionably truthful representations of the reality.

The Working Men's Library.—The Working Men's Institute at this place have, in connection with the Young Men's Association, engaged a commodious room in the second story of Hamilton's Building over Gilford's store, which is open as a reading room for the use of the Institute, on Tuesday, Thursday, and Saturday evenings. The library already contains a large collection of good books, and will be augmented as rapidly as circumstances will admit.

A desirable opportunity is now presented to the mechanics and working men of our city to improve their minds and enjoy a mental recreation. We trust it will be embraced, and hope to see the room well filled on each evening. In no other way can the time be more pleasantly or profitably occupied.

Bring the children!—A beautiful brass 5-pound canon, with all the necessary equipments, is now in possession of Col. Randall, having been sent here by the Governor. We should hope there is sufficient military spirit among our young men to put up a good artillery company, and take charge of the "pease-maker." Who will make the first move in this matter?

In New York, on Tuesday, the 6th, for State officers, except Governor and Lieutenant Governor.

In Wisconsin, on Tuesday, the 6th, for State officers.

In Maryland, on Wednesday, the 7th, for State Representatives to Congress.

The week after, the 12th, an election will be held in Massachusetts for State offices. In each of the States of Alabama, Missouri, Indiana, California, and Pennsylvania, the legislature will have to elect one or two, S. Senator.
